Presents
A Professional Development Workshop

TEACHING, LEADING AND LEARNING IN A GLOBAL SOCIETY
STUDENT SKILLS FOR THE 21ST CENTURY

FRIDAY, MAY 8, 2009
Century House
Latham, NY
8:30 am - 3:30 pm

Presenter—Dr. Steven Edwards
President –Edwards Educational Services

This workshop will present an opportunity for participants to share current and future trends impacting teaching and learning in a global economy. We are all six degrees or less away from anyone, as the world becomes a smaller place the dynamic of education must adapt at a pace with the rest of the world. This presentation will examine the move from an industrial age paradigm to the realities of a knowledge economy and ways that educators can continue to modify practice to meet the changing dynamic.

As a result of participation in this workshop participants will

- ◆ Have an understanding of the macro trends that impact youth and how they impact teaching and learning
- ◆ Be able to apply new concepts for the delivery and facilitation of instruction
- ◆ Learn the dynamics and characteristics of the ikid
- ◆ Begin to design an action plan to adapt and modify practice to better meet
- ◆ the needs of a changing learner

Workshop participants will receive a Certificate of Completion of six hours of Professional Development

Dr. Steven Edwards

A leader nationally recognized by USA Today for his innovative approach to education, Dr. Edwards successfully implemented numerous programs to improve student performance during his sixteen year tenure as a school administrator. One such program, The Student Assistance Center, was one of only seven national winners of grass roots programs. The school combined school and community to solve educational issues. Dr. Edwards has also been instrumental in helping countless school districts tailor similar programs with positive, far reaching results. In addition, Dr. Edwards is a nationally recognized keynote speaker, facilitator and trainer regularly featured as a content expert on television and radio with appearances on CNN on topics such as school safety, school climate and reform and strategic planning. As a planner, Dr. Edwards has worked locally, nationally and internationally with both for-profit and non-profit organizations. Clients include the World Bank and the United Nations. Throughout his twenty- eight year professional career, Dr. Edwards has published numerous articles on school reform, and has published a book, The Student Assistance Center, which outlines the implementation of the Student Assistance Center. Dr. Edwards has served as the Vice President for the Children's Curriculum and Youth Division of the National Crime Prevention Center in Washington D. C. where he oversaw initiatives that focus on delivering a crime prevention message to America's youth. His efforts in this area involved working with schools, youth service agencies, community leaders and policy makers across the country and internationally. He also served as a professor in the Graduate School of Educational Leadership at the George Washington University, teaching courses in planning and organizational change. Currently, Dr. Edwards is President and CEO of Edwards Educational Services where he oversees educational initiatives both nationally and internationally. His most recent publication is a dropout prevention monograph outlining seven effective strategies principals can implement to reduce the dropout rates in their schools.
